JAYCEE: DI IMMORTALES

MASTER ABILITY IMPLEMENTATION BIBLE

First-read instructions • exact Abilities-tab reconstruction brief • generative artwork briefs • complete 292-entry illustrated ability encyclopedia

PRIORITY: The following Abilities-tab specification appears first by design. The complete ability encyclopedia follows without editing its existing pages. The screenshot is the visual reference, and this document is the written contract for recreating the approved look and interactions.

SOURCE AND DELIVERY NOTE

The previous 32-page Agent-Ready Ability Bible was listed in the project but its original PDF could not be retrieved for direct merging. This master instead preserves the available 51-page Complete Ability Encyclopedia and the full 3-page UI Revision addendum. Do not confuse their ability rosters or assume that either document proves code is implemented. If an older bible supplies additional canon mechanics, reconcile them rather than discarding them.

AGENT EXECUTION ORDER

1. Read this front section, then the existing UI addendum and the complete catalog before changing code.

2. Keep the already-approved menu navigation, tabs, colors, Equip Page, page count and behavior. Change only the Abilities tab components explicitly described here.

3. Build canonical data records for names, ability IDs, patron/evolution/fusion grouping, description, available modes, level, mana cost, cooldown, range, area, cast time, and icon ID. Do not invent numeric values where the source has none; mark them for balancing or derive them from implemented mechanics.

4. Generate ORIGINAL image assets from per-ability briefs, validate legibility at slot size, register files and make every GUI and hotbar view use the same asset ID. The existing catalog illustrations are concept references, not evidence of finished individual runtime textures.

5. Implement interactions and test search, categories, accurate counts, selection, display, equipment persistence, Alt+slot mode cycling, and UI scales. Deliver sources and built artifact only after a working test pass.

SCREENSHOT RECONSTRUCTION — MEASURABLE LAYOUT

Reference canvas is 1536 × 1024 pixels. Coordinates below are approximate reference anchors, NOT mandatory absolute pixels for all screen sizes; scale the design uniformly within the Minecraft GUI and use anchors and proportional constraints to avoid clipping. Match the screenshot when displayed at this aspect ratio.

Area	Approx. x range	Approx. y range	Behavior
Top tabs	182–1344	94–198	Status / Abilities / Skills / Magic / Species / Quests; highlight Abilities in violet
Categories	32–337	213–923	Dark framed scrolling column; All Abilities first; replace other labels with approved canon groups
Ability list	341–740	213–923	Search near y=280, row height ~54; icon/name/rank/level; purple selected highlight
Details	744–1245	213–923	Header with small icon at upper left, name + level + tags; large art and stat block

VISUAL DESIGN, DOWN TO COMPONENT LEVEL

Canvas and framing

Keep Minecraft world faintly visible behind the GUI. Use deep near-black midnight-blue translucent panels (#071427 to #111c32), fine blue-white strokes, faint inner glows, slim corner filigree and silver-violet diamond details. Separate columns by narrow luminous vertical dividers. Keep all text on dark surfaces bright enough to read.

Top navigation

Keep centered horizontal navigation tiles. The selected Abilities tab glows saturated violet with a bright thin outline and flame-like ability symbol; inactive tabs use icy-blue monochrome symbols. Preserve M and E side hints if already built. Do not rebuild tabs.

Middle browse panel

Details header

At top of main details column put a distinct 70-ish-square icon and large white ability title. At the right place level text in warm gold and a thin golden underline. Beneath the title, rank/type badges in golden, red, violet or another ability-appropriate accent. All ranks must come from data.

Preview and numerical stats

Description and effects

Under artwork, use a small violet ornamental icon followed by Description label in bright white. Display two-to-four clear text lines of what the selected skill really does, wrapping without overlap. Below that, a tiny starburst icon and Effects heading, then a compact bullet list describing concrete mechanics. Add mode, evolution, mastery and grant restrictions in an expandable subsection if content does not fit.

Action zone

Near bottom of details panel, use a gold-outlined button using the existing equip action semantics (in reference it reads Remove from Page because the sample ability is already equipped). The action state must reflect the real slot state. Do not add an independent alternative equip panel.

Equip and persistence

Do not change right panel design, four visible icon slots, page arrows, page indicator, diamond page progress controls, or Alt+wheel page switching. Equipping must immediately show the same icon as in the list and details header. Restore slots after relog, server sync and reopening UI.

Accessibility and scaling

At smaller GUI scales use scissoring/scroll views for middle/left columns, clipped long names with full hover tooltips, and flexible preview/stat sizing; avoid stretching artwork. Keep hover, focus, keyboard support and clear selected states.

REFERENCE SCREENSHOT

Use the reference image for proportions, ornaments and placement; authoritative text in this section determines which portions change.

ICON GENERATION PROTOCOL — APPLY TO EVERY ABILITY

Generate an individual original pictorial ability icon for EVERY catalog entry below. Icon artwork is not a stock icon or an emoji: paint a polished high-fantasy miniature illustration like the example references. Each image must immediately communicate its actual power (running figure with long speed streaks for super-speed, not an unrelated glowing orb).

IMAGE SOURCE: create at 1024x1024 square PNG with transparency; keep all important content in the central 80% safe area. Paint at high resolution, then produce 256x256 menu texture, 64x64 quick-slot texture and a 32x32 readability-check thumbnail (retain originals). Use premultiplied-alpha-safe edges. Do not place words or numbers in the image. Build badges, rank or mode labels as GUI overlay text rather than baked pixels.

VISUAL TEMPLATE: central recognizable subject occupies around 65% of the image, dramatic inward converging particles or motion trails, silhouette readable at 32 px; layered glow gives depth but does not obscure shape. Outer restrained ornamental square frame with small corner engravings, metallic silver for common, violet for unique, gold for ultimate, and deep amethyst-gold for sovereign. A frame must not disguise the unique motif.

PER-ABILITY SPEC: each brief below contains an explicit central subject/effect action derived from that entry’s description, with distinct ornament/energy language and palette rules. The text is a GENERATION PROMPT, not a guarantee that images have been generated. A coding agent must actually render, inspect, resize and register each file.

NAMING: use assets/jaycee/textures/gui/abilities/<ability_slug>.png for the 256px version and assets/jaycee/textures/gui/abilities/hud/<ability_slug>.png for the HUD. A canonical icon_id points to them from the ability registry; advanced modes may have extra overlays or distinct variants but cannot silently replace the base identity.

ACCEPTANCE: visually compare each texture to its brief at full size and 32px; reject wrong silhouettes, duplicate-looking abilities, illegible blurry glows, oversaturation or opaque background. The concept art preview can be larger and more scenic, but it must visibly relate to the same motif as the icon. Alt+slot changing mode updates the mode indicator and any explicitly mode-specific icon overlay without casting.

ABILITY-BY-ABILITY ORIGINAL ICON ART BRIEFS

These numbered prompts follow the 292-entry catalog. They specify the central subject, action, palette, frame and target gameplay effect. FINAL IMPLEMENTATION CHECKLIST

■ Use the official named categories and register filters dynamically; do not ship generic screenshot category names as the approved taxonomy.

■ Every catalog skill resolves to a distinct verified image file; all UI locations resolve one canonical icon ID.

■ Selected skill shows name, level, tags, large preview, mana cost, cooldown, range, area, cast time, description and concrete effects.

■ Mode-specific costs, cooldowns and descriptions must be derived from code-backed stats; no guessed placeholder numbers.

■ Equipping uses the existing right Equip Page. Alt+slot cycles modes without triggering ability or spending mana.

■ Mana powers abilities; Essence is for divine blessings/followers; EP is cumulative power. Never mix resource labels.

■ Ensure unlocked forms, fused antecedent modes, blessings, passive toggles and Jaycee-only grants are preserved as defined in approved materials.

■ Make full gameplay implementation and tests; PDF text, concept art and icons do NOT constitute working Minecraft mechanics.

JAYCEE: DI IMMORTALES

Abilities Tab — Targeted UI Revision for Coding Agent

Status: design/implementation instruction; this addendum does not claim that the mod UI is already changed. Apply alongside the existing Divine Ability Bible. The supplied Reality Severance interface image is a layout reference, not an exhaustive list of abilities.

1 | Scope: keep the rest of the GUI unchanged

Modify only the Abilities tab, specifically its left category/filter column, middle ability list, and selected-ability details panel. Preserve the existing overall visual theme and the existing right-hand Equip Page including its page navigation, slots, and existing interaction model. Do not recreate or redesign that page.

2 | Left column: replace generic groupings

Remove the provisional filters Offensive, Defensive, Support, Mobility, Control, Transformation, Reality Manipulation, Creation, Destruction, Passive as the primary category scheme. Retain All Abilities as the first category. Populate the remaining category names from the actual approved ability taxonomy and patron/evolution/fusion groupings defined in the ability bible; use the canon labels, not guessed or generic substitutes. Where the source design is ambiguous, mark the mapping for approval rather than silently inventing categories.

Each category shows a live count of abilities belonging to it, respecting unlock visibility rules. The All Abilities count is the unique total, not a sum that double-counts an ability assigned to multiple groupings. Clicking a category filters the middle list; its header and result count update to match. Search works within the active filter, and counts refresh when abilities are unlocked, blessed, or removed.

3 | Middle column: ability selection

Show each ability with its original distinct icon, canonical name, tier/rank, and mastery level where applicable. Clicking the entry highlights it and populates the adjacent selected-ability panel without equipping or casting it. Preserve scrolling/searching and support locked abilities according to existing progression rules. No placeholder icons in the shipped mod.

4 | Selected ability details panel

Follow the reference layout: large ability name with large original icon, relevant tier/element badges and level; a visual preview/artwork area; a compact, clearly aligned stat block containing Mana Cost, Cooldown, Range, Area, Cast Time; then a Description explaining behavior and an Effects section showing concrete mechanics. Include unlocked modes, mastery/evolution/fusion conditions, and requirements without obscuring the core five stats. Display contextual values per selected mode and level rather than invented constants. For passive/toggle abilities label sustained mana drain, activation costs, and cooldowns appropriately; show N/A only where mechanics truly do not apply.

5 | Equipping and icons

Use the existing Equip Page. Assigning a selected unlocked ability to a slot immediately displays the exact same icon in that slot and on the in-game equipped-ability HUD. Persist the slot assignment and icon through saves, reloads, GUI reopenings, and mode changes. If a selected slot is occupied, obey the existing replacement/confirmation behavior rather than adding a new panel. Icon assets must be visibly distinct and legible at HUD scale, with consistent rendering and transparent backgrounds.

6 | Interaction contract

Click ability entry = select and inspect, not activate. Equip action = assign to chosen existing slot. Normal equipped hotkey = activate current mode. Hold Alt + press the corresponding ability hotkey = cycle through unlocked modes without activation or mana use; update mode indicator, ability stats/description where applicable, and slot visual state. Evolved and fused abilities retain access to their earlier forms and modes as specified in the design bible.

7 | Acceptance checks

Confirm the right Equip Page remains functionally unchanged; each list entry has a unique relevant icon; selection opens accurate descriptions and all five combat stat fields; counts and search are correct; equipping mirrors icon onto the chosen slot; Alt+slot cycles modes without casting; no abilities or levels are lost; GUI does not clip at supported UI scales. Use the complete approved ability data, not just the ten example entries visible in the reference.

Visual layout reference

Use this screenshot to guide proportions, icon placement, stat display, descriptive text, and the existing equip-slot arrangement. Only the categories and the defined portions of the Abilities tab are to be altered.

Art direction: The previous supplied icon examples are stylistic references, not mandatory assets. Each named ability requires an original image whose subject communicates its effect (for example, speed: a sprinting figure with trailing motion streaks). Store per-ability icon descriptions, final asset IDs, and fallback handling in the ability registry so list, details panel, and equip slots all resolve to one canonical icon.

THE DIVINE ABILITY CODEX

A visual encyclopedia of classes, learnable skills, innate racial traits, elemental magic, battle techniques, and Jaycee-only sovereign powers.

292 ABILITIES • 21 FAMILIES

Each entry includes its own original, semantically matched symbol illustration and a concise gameplay concept. Resource costs, exact numerical balance, permissions, and runtime implementation remain design work.

How the system works

CLASS IDENTITY

Twelve origin classes, optional secondary paths, innate race pools, battlewills, magic schools, and the restricted Jaycee sovereign path.

UI PRESENTATION

Show name, rank, illustration, cost, cooldown, mastery, tags, ability modes, and status. Use separate overlays for locked, mastered, and active.
